DAILY GAZETTE.

The Truth about "Sam Paich" -- His Last Leap.

A correspondent of the Rochester Democrat takes exception to a statement concerning the renowned Sam Patch, which recently appeared in an English book, and gives the correct version of the story of that individual's last leap. Ho says:

Sam Patch's last leap occurred on the afernoon of the 15th of November 1829, on a cold, cloudy, dismal antumn day. The heavens, as if in keeping with the melancholy spectacle, were almost clothed in ancheloth. The sun refused to look upon the mournful tragedy. But ten thousand human beings, more thoughtless, lined the banks of the river on both sides, perched also upon the mills and houses, and in trees, above and below the high banks, to cheer and encourage the poor dranken saicide in his self-immolation. A scaffold was erected thirty feet high, on the island above the falls, as they then were standing, very near where the saw mill upon the brow of the cataract now is. From that scaffold poor Sam dropped into the deep water, as t then was, below. Ten thousand eager eyes watched him as he went like an arrow down against the dark ledge of rocks, a distance of one hundred and twenty-six feet. Ten thousand eager eyes gazed with breathless anxiety upon the spot where he fell, expecting to see him emerge from the water as he had done most gracefully one week before, after jumping from the precinice without the scalfold, a distance of 96 feet; boats put out below and sailed around near the spot, ready to pick him up. Ten thousand people, like a great crowd of witnesses, still lining the cliffs, still straining their eyes to catch the first glimpse of any dark speek on the waters, no one daring hardly to move or draw a long breath, for nearly half an hour, until one by one they began to turn away and give him up, many with tearful eyes, many with words saddened and subduced upon their lips, "Poor able man in such suicide! If we had not been looking on, he would not have done Is prepared by Dr. C. P. Britison en, and eminent physician of London, and is warranted to bring out a thick set of all over and through the waters below the falls, to find the poor remains of the miserable victim of his own fully, but found i him not. Next day the search was renewed. Indeed, it was kept up with more or less diligence for some time; and yet all in vain for that season. Searching, dragging, lishing in the waters day after day, revealed nothing. But the next spring the body was picked up by some unknown person near the mouth of the river, seven miles below, as it was floating out into the lake. It had lain in the water all winter; had gone down over the lower falls also; and still was in such a state of preservation as to be readily identified. It was taken up and decently baried in a spot of ground may be heard?

Excitement at Elizabeth, New Jersey.

The staid and quiet community of Elizabeth were aroused last evening by an unusunl excitement. Archibald Gracie, Jr., who is a graduate of West Point, and recently a resident of the south, having acquired military instruction from the United States, concluded a short time since to show the government how grateful he was, and accordingly having command of a volunteer military company, tendered its service to the state of Alabama, and with it participated in the seizure of Fort Morgan. Covered with this glory, he concluded to return to his native place, and accordingly came north, and reached Elizabeth on Sunday night. His presence was not at first known, but, being soon discovered, the patriotic people of our neighboring city (irrespective of parties) concluded to express their sentiments upon Mr. Gracie's exploits in rather an emphatic manner, and accordingly last night proceeded to burn him in effigy, amid the groans of a crowd of some 500 persons, intermingled with denunciations of traitors and cheers for the Union. This morning posters were circulated through the city, as follows: WHEREAS, It appears, from reliable information, that one Archibald Gracie, Jr., lately in command of a band of thieves, took possession of Fort Morgan, on the Gulf coast, and known to be a traitor to his country; he, the said Gracie, having been fed at the public crib, and having been educated at West Point at the expense of the government of the United States, is now daily insulting the good citizens of Elizabeth by his presence among them: Now, be it known, that we, the people of Elizabeth, with the firm determination on our part to resent the insult offered to our national flag by the cowardly traitor, Archibald Gracie, Jr., hereby, with a hearty good will, give him, the said Archibald Gracie Jr., twenty-four hours notice to evacuate the Cloths to Select From. loyal city of Elizabeth; otherwise he will be donned a suit of clothes not set down in the programme.

he programme. VOX POPULI.

Mr. Gracie, it is presumed, this morning deeming "discretion the better part of val or," left the place, and will not again trouble it with his obnoxious presence. Much excitement, we learn, exists, and it was with Lowest Cash Prices difficulty that some of the crowd at the effigy burning were prevented from using violence toward the individual himself.-Newark Advertiser.

SERVED HIM RIGHT .- The captain of a 'secession" schooner lying at the foot of Perry street, New York, hoisted an efligy of Mr. Lincoln to the mast head, on Tuesday morning, which was labelled "Abe Lincoln dead and gone to hell." The police sergeant ordered him to take it down. He refused, and showed fight, whereupon the sergeant knocke I him down, consigned him to a dirt cart and conveyed him before Justice Connoley. He speedily caved, and promised to take down the effigy-which in due time he did.

The Truth about "Sam Paich".-His Last Leap.

JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, FRIDAY, MARCH 8, 1861.

A correspondent of the Rochester Democrat takes exception to a statement concerning the renowned Sam Patch, which recently appeared in an English book, and gives the correct version of the story of that individual's last leap. He says:

Sam Patch's last leap occurred on the afternoon of the 15th of November 1829, on cold, cloudy, dismal autumn day. The heavens, as if in keeping with the melan-choly spectacle, were almost clothed in sackcloth. The sun refused to look upon the mournful tragedy. But ten thousand human beings, more thoughtless, lined the banks of the river on both sides, perched also upon the mills and houses, and in trees, above and below the high banks, to cheer and encourage the poor drunken sui-cide in his self-immolation. A scaffold was erected thirty feet high, on the island above the falls, as they then were standing, very near where the saw mill upon the brow the entarnet now is. From that scaffold poor Sam dropped into the deep water, as it then was, below. Ten thousand eager eyes watched him as he went like an arrow down against the dark ledge of rocks, a distance of one hundred and twenty-six feet. Ten thousand eager eyes gazed with breath-less anxiety upon the spot where he fell, expecting to see him emerge from the water as he had done most gracefully one week before, after jumping from the preci-pice without the scaffold, a distance of 96 fact; boats put out below and sailed around near the spot, ready to pick him up. Ten thousand people, like a great crowd of wit-nesses, still lining the cliffs, still straining their eyes to eatch the first glimpse of any dark speck on the waters; no one daring hardly to move or draw a long breath, for nearly half an hour, until one by one they began to turn away and give him up, many with tearful eyes, many with words saddened and subdued upon their lips, "Poor Sam—it was his last leap. How fool-hardy! How wicked!" And some were heard to say, "How wicked to countenance a miserable man in such suicide! If we had not been looking on, he would not have done

For two long hours, at least, until darkness stopped their work, eager men hunted all over and through the waters below the falls, to find the poor remains of the mise-rable victim of his own folly, but found him not. Next day the search was renewed. Indeed, it was kept up with more or less diligence for some time; and yet all in ain for that season. Searching, dragging, fishing in the waters day after day, revealed nothing. But the next spring the body was picked up by some unknown person near the mouth of the river, seven miles below, as it was floating out into the lake

It had lain in the water all winter; had gone down over the lower falls also; and still was in such a state of preservation as to be readily identified. It was taken up and decently buried in a spot of ground near at hand."

Excitement at Elizabeth, New Jersey

The staid and quiet community of Elizabeth were aroused last evening by an unusual excitement. Archibald Gracie, Jr., who is a graduate of West Point, and recently a resident of the south, having acquired military instruction from the United States, concluded a short time since to show the government how grateful he was, and accordingly having command of a volunteer military company, tendered its service to the state of Alabama, and, with it partici-pated in the seizure of Fort Morgan.

Covered with this glory, he concluded to return to his native place, and accordingly came north, and reached Elizabeth on Sunday night. His presence was not at first known, but, being soon discovered, the patriotic people of our neighboring city (irrespective of parties) concluded to express their sentiments upon Mr. Gracie's exploits in rather an emphatic manner, and accord-ingly last night proceeded to burn him, in effigy, amid the groans of a crowd of some 500 persons, intermingled with denuncia-tions of traitors and cheers for the Union.

This morning posters were circulated through the city, as follows: Whereas, It appears, from reliable information, that one Archibald Gracie, Jr., lately in command of a band of thieves, took possession of Fort Morgan, on the Gulf coast, and known to be a traitor to his country; he, the said Gracie, having been fed at the public crib, and having been educated at West Point at the expense of the government of the United States, is now daily insulting the good citizens of Elizabeth by his presence among them:

Now, be it known, that we, the people of Elizabeth, with the firm determination on our part to resent the insult offered to our national flag by the cowardly traitor, Archibald Gracie, Jr., hereby, with a hearty good will, give him, the said Archibald Gracie, Jr., twenty-four hours notice to evacuate the loyal city of Elizabeth; otherwise he will be donned a suit of clothes not set down in the programme. VOX POPULI.

Mr. Gracie, it is presumed, this morning deeming "discretion the better part of val-or," left the place, and will not again trouble it with his obnoxious presence. Much excitement, we learn, exists, and it was with difficulty that some of the crowd at the effigy burning were prevented from using violence toward the individual himself. Newark Advertiser.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.—The captain of a "secession" schooner lying at the foot of Porry street, New York, hoisted an effigy of Mr. Lincoln to the mast head, on Tues day morning, which was labelled."Abe Lincoln dead and gone to hell." The police sergeant ordered him to take it down. He refused, and showed fight, whereupon the sergeant knocked him down, consigned him to a dirt cart and conveyed him before Justice Connoley. He speedily caved, and promised to take down the effigy-which an due time he did. (1) () is sold.

Official Paper of the City.

Self-Convicted.

The traitors in Buchanan's cabinet need no other witnesses than themselves to establish the fact of their treason. Floyd, the theiring secretary from Virginia, met a company of his friends at home, and mel- the subject of "Female Education." lowed by whiskey and encouraged by the presence of sympathizing hearers, made a revelation of his share in the attempt to betray the government into the hands of the

Thompson, the Mississippi traitor, follows suit, and becomes communicative to his neighbors and friends. He takes the seal from the secrets of the cabinet and exposes the inside workings to the public gaze .-He says the cabinet were harmonious until Lincoln was elected, when there arose a discussion upon the rights and powers of the general and state governments. On the right of a state to evede, the cabinet split at once; but on the right of the general government to coerce a rebel, all agreed in the negative. He was one who con tended for the right of secession, and kept his place that he might aid in the progress of the contemplated treason. How well he succeeded, he goes on to reveal. That worthy says :--

"As I was writing my resignation, I sent a despatch to Judge Longstreet that the Star of the West was coming with reinforcements. The troops were thus put on their guard, and when the Star of the West arrived, she received a warm welcome from booming cannon, and beat a retreat. I was rejoiced the vessel was not sunk, but I was still more rejoiced that the concealed trick, first conceived by Gen. Scott, and adopted by Secretary Holt, but countermanded by the President when too late, proved a failure." This shameless confession has drawn out a proper rebuke from Secretary Holt: "We have here a distinct, exultant ayow al on the part of the Hon. Secretary, that while yet a member of the cabinet, he disclosed to those in open rebellion against the United States, information which he had derived from his official position, and which he held under the seals of a confidence that, from the beginning of our history as a nation, had never been violated. This step not merely endangered the highest public interests, but put in imminent jeopardy the lives of two hundred and fifty innocent men, who had never wronged the Hon. Secretary, and who in proceeding to Charleston harbor were simply obeying the lawful command of their superior officers. The armed enemies of the government he was serving, under the solemn sanctions of an oath, were as he declares thus put on their guard, and the frail vessel that was bearing succor to its friends, received a warm welcome from booming cannon."

If anything could add to the infamy of the Floyd-Thompson traitors, they are themselves furnishing the material.

John Tyler vs. John Tyler.

The New York Evening Post is doing an unkind thing in contrasting the acts of John Tyler as President against the theories of John Tyler as a secessionist. When the people of Rhode Island attempted to change their constitution by a popular movement instead of under the authority of a legislative enactment, and elected Mr. Dorr governor, Tyler, then "Acting President" of the United States, sept a regiment of troops to sustain the state authorities and put down the people. After this piece of "coercion," he treated congress to a disquisition on the subject, and justified his interposition on the ground that as Presi dent of the Union he could not recognize or sustain any change of government not made in accordance with the constitution of that government.

That was John Tyler before he became a Traitor to his Country, and when he had reached only the infamy of a Traitor to his

But in justice to John, we ought to say, that it is the Cotton Lords of the South be is now fighting for, and it was only the factory operatives of a northern state and "mudsills of society" he was then willing to put down by the strong arm of the law That is the difference

THE OBJECTORS .- Mason, of Virginia, Mitchell, of Arkansas, and Clingman and Bragg, of North Carolina, were the senators who voted against Messrs. Blair and Bates for cabinet officers on the ground that they were unwilling that any citizen of a slaveholding state should be associated with the the new administration. Those senatorial worthies would make good cabinet ministers to "His Majesty, King Bomba," the great slave exporter of the west coast of Africa.

A QUESTION WITHOUT ANY DIFFERENCE. ... The Madison papers are disputing which of them published the inaugural message most correctly. We respectfully submit that the question is more interesting to the proprietors of the papers than the public. It certainly can make no difference whether one copy contained 250 errors and the other 249, or which had the advantage in the number. Any of them were bad enough, and which was better or worse is a matter of no consequence. We believe we got the message up in about as good shape as anybody in Wisconsin, and yet if we should be indicted for murdering the "King's English" and defaming the President, we should plead guilty, and throw ourselves on the mercy of the court. Before we published it in our weekly we subjected the message to a careful comparison with the copy received and published by the Chicago Tribane, and though the corrections will beat any illuminated border known to the most fanciful job printer, we are reserving it for a further correction by an official copy when

Official Paper of the City.

The traitors in Buchanan's cabinet need no other witnesses than themselves to astablish the fact of their treason. Floyd, the theiring secretary from Virginia, met a company of his friends at home, and mellowed by whiskey and encouraged by the presence of sympathizing hearers, made a revelation of his share in the attempt to be- ing at 9 o'clock. tray the government into the hands of the secessionists.

Thompson, the Mississippi traitor, follows suit, and becomes communicative to his neighbors and friends. He takes the seal from the secrets of the cabinet and exposes the inside workings to the public gaze .-He says the cabinet were harmonious until Lincoln was elected, when there arose a discussion upon the rights and powers of the general and state governments. On the right of a state to secede, the cabinet split at once; but on the right of the general government to coerce a rebel, all agreed in the negative. He was one who con tended for the right of secession, and kent his place that he might aid in the progress of the contemplated treason. How well he succeeded, he goes on to reveal. That worthy says :--

"As I was writing my resignation, I sent a despatch to Judge Longstreet that the Star of the West was coming with reinforcements." resolution, pending which adjourned till 1:30 P. M. The troops were thus put on their guard, and when the Star of the West arrived, she received a warm welcome from booming cannon, and beat a retreat. I was rejoiced the vessel was not sunk, but I was still more rejoiced that the concealed trick, first conceived by Gen. Scott, and adopted by Secretary Holt, but countermanded by the President when too late, proved a failure."

This shameless confession has drawn out a proper rebuke from Secretary Holt:

"We have here a distinct, exultant avow al on the part of the Hon. Secretary, that while yet a member of the cabinet, he disclosed to those in open rebellion against the United States, information which he had derived from his official position, and which he held under the seals of a confi dence that, from the beginning of our history as a nation, had never been violated This step not merely endangered the highest public interests, but put in imminent jeopardy the lives of two hundred and fifty innocent men, who had never wronged the Hon. Secretary, and who in proceeding to Charleston harbor were simply obeying the lawful command of their superior officers. The armed enemies of the government he was serving, under the solemn sanctions of an oath, were as he declares thus put on their guard, and the frail vessel that was bearing succor to its friends, received a warm welcome from booming cannon."

If anything could add to the infamy of the Floyd-Thompson traitors, they are themselves furnishing the material.

John Tyler vs. John Tyler,

The New York Evening Post is doing an unkind thing in contrasting the acts of John Tyler as President against the theories of John Tyler as a secessionist. When the people of Rhode Island attempted to change their constitution by a popular movement instead of under the authority of a legislative enactment, and elected Mr. Dorr governor, Tyler, then "Acting President" of the United States, sent a regiment of troops to sustain the state authorities and put down the people. After this piece of "coercion," he treated congress to a disinterposition on the ground that as President of the Union he could not recognize or sustain any change of government not made in accordance with the constitution of that government.

That was John Tyler before he became a Traitor to his Country, and when he had reached only the infamy of a Traitor to his Party.

But in justice to John, we ought to say, that it is the Cotton Lords of the South he is now fighting for, and it was only the factory operatives of a northern state and "mudsills of society" he was then willing to put down by the strong arm of the law That is the difference.

THE OBJECTORS .- Mason, of Virginia, Mitchell, of Arkansas, and Clingman and Bragg, of North Carolina, were the senators who voted against Messrs. Blair and Bates for cabinet officers on the ground that they were unwilling that any citizen of a slaveholding state should be associated with the the new administration. Those senatorial worthies would make good cabinet ministers to "His Majesty, King Bomba," the great slave exporter of the west coast of Africa.

A QUESTION WITHOUT ANY DIFFERENCE. -The Madison papers are disputing which of them published the inaugural message most correctly. We respectfully submit that the question is more interesting to the proprietors of the papers than the public. It certainly can make no difference whether one copy contained 250 errors and the other 249, or which had the advantage in the number. Any of them were bad enough, and which was better or worse is a matter of no consequence. We believe we got the lication. message up in about as good shape as anybody in Wisconsin, and yet if we should be indicted for murdering the "King's English" and defaming the President, we should plead guilty, and throw ourselves on the to the citizens of Clinton for the hospitable mercy of the court. Before we published manner in which they have ministered to it in our weekly we subjected the message | the wants of the members of the associato a careful comparison with the copy received and published by the Chicago Trihune, and though the corrections will beat any illuminated border known to the most fanciful job printer, we are reserving it for a further correction by an official copy when we receive it.

The comparative merits of such a per-Tre as the telegraphing and printing mment in question is like decien two rotten apples, neither of it for use.

Rock County Teachers' Assocation.

After a report of the business committee the association adjourned till Friday morn-

FRIDAY MORNING. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mr. Samson.

The following resolutions were presented: Resolved, That the value of our common chools would be greatly enhanced by makit obligatory with the teacher to board with his pupils.

Resolved, That corporal punishment in schools is in all cases evidence of the incompetency of the teacher.

Resolved, That we ought to have a pubic sentiment empodied in legislative enactments to compel every parent, master and guardian to give a suitable amount of edueation to every child under their control.,

The first resolution was discussed by Messrs. Cheever, Samson, Treat, Hammond and Peck, after which it was referred to the committee on resolutions.

A spicy debate ensued upon the second resolution, pending which the association

FRIDAY, P. M. Messrs. Martin, Cheever and Hatch of Clinton, Mr. Burdick of Janesville and Mr. Peck of Evansville were appointed a committee on the nomination of officers.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Pickard for his address.

After a recess of fifteen minutes the third resolution was called up, for which was substituted the following:

FIRE DEPARTMENT FINANCES .- The Madison Argus says that the treasurer of the fire department in that city has thus far collected from insurance companies doing business in Madison $125. There is due from agents, who have not yet settled, about $55 -making the total amount on the business

FAMILY GROCERIES .- Our readers are re ferred to the advertisement of Mr. F. S. Eldred. Mr. E. is one of those traders whose word may be depended upon, and who does not believe that a "sharp trade" is the best evidence of a good business man or most conducive to his own interests.-Consequently, his customers are dealt by fairly, and they call again, satisfied with the treatment they have received.

THE TWIGGS TREASON-COL. WAITE .-The Journal of Commerce says that much interest as to the future course of Col. Waite in his new command, is felt among the arthe retaking of the property which General Twiggs has surrendered wit! out the authority of the U.S. government to "somebody" in Texas—the telegraph does not say whom -but probably not Gov. Houston. Should the Colonel's views be sustained by a majority of his officers, he will act promptly and fearlessly in vindicating the rights of the government he represents. Colonel Waite is a native of New York, about sixty years of age, and has been in the army about forty years, and filled many responsible positions, all of them with high ability and spotless honor. The army has derived great benefits from his labors as superintendent of the recruiting service and assistant quartermaster. He fought gallantly in the Mexican war, was promoted from Major to Lieut. Col. for his distinguished services at Cherubusco, and the brevet of Col. for consequence of the unsettled state of the country, menhis intrepid conduct at Molino del Rey, where he was seriously wounded. To high military talent and undoubted courage, he unites remarkable firmness, judgment and modesty. Since last December he has

she wouldn't. The fortuneless gentlemen then took Moore out, tied him to a tree and whipped him; they then put corncobs into his mouth till his irritated stomach heaved and heaved, and finally heaved out all that was in it. Having thus emptied the man, had his tormentors brought before him, and to the potent, grave and reverend seignior detailed his escape from the imminent dangers of whip and corncob. The potent, grave and reverend seignior said nothing, but shook his head, shut his book, and with the deliberate utterance of wisdom, said the case was dismissed—the defendants having only chastised Moore in anticipation of future misconduct, and fed him in anticipation of future hunger. "Still Moore," said he, "I would advise you to have as little to do with those men as possible."-" I will, sir," said Moore.—Memphis Bulle-

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

ROCK COUNTY TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION. -A note from the president, accompanying the proceedings of this association, asks whether it would be agreeable to the citizens of Janesville to hold a semi-annual meeting of the association in this city. We have, of course, no authority to answer this question, but we presume the association gers of whip and corncob. The potent, would be cordially welcomed here.

It is proposed to hold the meeting sometime next month, and those who feel interested in having it here should act promptly.

FIRE DEPARTMENT FINANCES .- The Madison Argus says that the treasurer of the fire department in that city has thus far collected from insurance companies doing business in Madison $125. There is due from agents, who have not yet settled, about $55 -making the total amount on the business of 1860, due the department, about $180.

The amount collected in Janesville from this source so far amounts to $228,10, and enough due, uncollected, to make the amount, in round numbers, $240.

FAMILY GROCERIES .- Our readers are referred to the advertisement of Mr. F. S. With our Eldred. Mr. E. is one of those traders whose word may be depended upon, and who does not believe that a "sharp trade" is the best evidence of a good business man or most conducive to his own interests .--Consequently; his customers are dealt by fairly, and they call again, satisfied with the treatment they have received.

CHOICE CONFECTIONERY .-- Ellis & Bro., opposite the American House Main street, are manufacturing and selling off at wholesale and retail confectionary of all kinds. Among which is a new kind called fruit drops which are par excellence. They sell Bit the lowest prices for cash.

CARELESSNESS .- The destruction of Cozzens' Hotel, at West Point, was caused by the carelessness of a man who was repairing the roof-leaving a furnace full of live coals while he went to dinner, and the wind blew the coals about. The building was of wood, 400 feet long, 50 feet wide, and four stories high. A considerable portion of the contents was saved. The building cost between $40,000 and $50,000. Mr. Cozzens had policies of insurance to the amount of $45,000. The total loss of property by the fire amounts to about $100,000.

FOR THE LADIES .-- Ladies have now an excellent opportunity to examine and test the celebrated Grover & Baker sewing machine at the store of A. G. & O. F. Allen. Let no one hereafter have occasion to say, "I wish I had seen them before I purchased mine."

The reputation of this machine for being the most quiet working and the most simple in construction, is justly due. A greater range is given, and more work in a given time can be done on this than on any oth er, which cannot be successfully contradicted. A variety of styles on exhibition.

FIRE DEPARTMENT NOMINATIONS .-- Wm. B. Britton was last evening nominated for chief engineer, Wm. M. Birt and Chas. Holt assistants, by delegates from engine company No. 3, book and ladder company and the sack company. Engine company No. 2 was not represented, but we understand that they favor their ex-foreman, Henry Hemming, for chief.

Last Night's Telegraph.

The Milwaukee Sentinel thus condenses the report received last night:

The steamer Bremen, at New York, brings European news to the 20th ult. Commercial advices are not favorable for American interests. Breadstuffs and provisions in the English markets had declined. In Liverpool flour was offered at 6dals decline without sales, and wheat was considerably lower and irregular. General news uninportant. Victor Emanuel had opened the Italian parliament in person on the 18th.-A proclamation emancipating serfs in Russia was to be issued on the 3d inst. Fresh disturbances had commenced againgt the Christians of Cochin-China. The Bank of France had made a direct exchange with the Bank of St, Petersburg of thirty million franks in gold for the same amount of silver. THE TWIGGS TREASON—COL. WAITE.—The Journal of Commerce says that much interest as to the future course of Col. Waite in his new command, is felt among the army officers in that city. From what is known of the man, it is supposed that he will hold a council of officers and advise the retaking of the property which General Twiggs has surrendered without the authority of the U.S. government to "somebody' in Texas—the telegraph does not say whom —but probably not Gov. Houston. Should the Colonel's views be sustained by a majority of his officers, he will act promptly and fearlessly in vindicating the rights of the government he represents. Colonel Waite is a native of New York, about sixty years of age, and has been in the army about forty years, and filled many responsi-ble positions, all of them with high ability and spotless honor. The army has derived great benefits from his labors as superintendent of the recruiting service and assistant quartermaster. He fought gallantly in the Mexican war, was promoted from Major to Lieut. Col. for his distinguished services at Cherubusco, and the brevet of Col. for his intrepid conduct at Molino del Rey, was seriously wounded. To high military talent and undoubted courage, he unites remarkable firmness, judgment and modesty. Since last December he has commanded a regiment under Gen. Twiggs.

THE LATITUDE OF LAW IN ARRANSAS .--Several gentlemen on whom fortune had not lately smiled, at Dardanells, Ark., a few days since notified a man named Moore to change his local habitation; they expressed no objection to his retaining his name. But Moore loved his homestead, proving thereby the truth of that seidom heard song which asserts that be it ever so humble there is no place like home, and he refused to travel. The notifiers then en-deavored to force Mrs. Moore to give them

she wouldn't. The fortuneless gentlemen then took Moore out, tied him to a tree and whipped him; they then put corncobs into his mouth till his critated stomach heaved. and heaved, and finally heaved out all that was in it. Having thus emptied the man, they turned him loose without cargo or ballast. He called on a justice of the peace, last. He called on a justice of the peace, had his tormentors brought before him, and to the potent, grave and reverend seignior the imminent dandetailed his escape from the imminent dangrave and reverend seignfor said nothing, but shook his head, shut his book, and with the deliberate utterance of wisdom, said the case was dismissed—the defendants having only chastised Moore in anticipation of future misconduct, and fed him in anticipation of future hunger. "Still Moore," said he, "I would advise you to have as little to do with those men as possible," "I will, sir," said Moore.—Memphis Bulle-
